

Supplemental Figure S8: Functional distribution of CDS according to COG in strains isolated from humans. The left chart reflects the distribution in strains isolated during carriage. The middle chart shows strains isolated during non-severe infections and the right chart relies on the distribution for strains isolated during severe infections. The charts represent mean number assigned to each categories. The right strip indicates the different categories assigned with COG.